"See here, young feller," bawled Pepperhole Pete in a voice that shook Pike's peak, "don't you never reflect on my marksmanship ag'in. Shoot a man! I never missed one, you dern galoot!"—Ohio State Journal.

Excursionists

Made Better Than a Mile a Minute.

At the rate of a mile in 58 seconds the 700 people who joined the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in their excursion to Dayton Sunday were whisked over the railroad a part of the distance.

Engine 990 pulled the train and Engineer T. H. Gledhill was at the throttle.

Conductors Mike Urdson and W. F. Broadword were in charge. The trip was made on schedule time, it being the first excursion to Dayton which was made exactly on schedule. In every way the excursion was a gratifying success and the Brotherhood is well pleased with its liberal patronage.

The Fruits of War.

Not long ago I visited the town of Novara, in northern Italy. There in a wheatfield the farmers have plowed up skulls of men until they have piled up a pyramid 10 or 12 feet high. Over this pyramid some one has built a canopy to keep off the rain. These were the skulls of young men of Savoy, Sardinia and Austria—men of 18 to 35 years of age, peasants from the farms and workmen from the shops—who met at Novara to kill each other over a matter in which they had very little concern. Further on Frenchmen, Austrians and for pleasure, to be decided. The Social committee will make a report in which all are interested. Communications from State committee of K. O. T. M. require attention. The announcement from Great Commander Lady Olds, of Macabee day at the Pan-American, will be read again.

and Italians fell together at Magenta, the hue of the blood that flowed out under the olive tree. Go over Italy as you will there is scarcely a spot not crimsoned by the blood of France, scarcely a railway station without its pile of French skulls. You can trace them across to Egypt, to the foot of the pyramids. You will find them in Germany—at Jena and Leipzig, at Lutten and Bautzen and Austerlitz. You will find them in Russia at Moscow, in Belgium at Waterloo. "A boy can stop a bullet as well as a man," said Napoleon. And with the rest are the skulls and bones of boys "ere evening to be trodden like the grass."—Popular Science Monthly.

Queer Turkish Fish.

April 19 is the great fete day of "Bakhl" or place of fishes. This is a small church situated outside the walls of Constantinople, and it enjoyed no particular reputation before the conquest of Constantinople by the Turks. At the time of the invasion, however, a monk was cooking some fish there when a messenger came and told him that the Turks had entered Constantinople. The monk did not believe the story and said he would sooner believe that the half cooked fish would jump back into the water. As he spoke the fish jumped back into the water, and since then the place has had a great reputation for its healing powers.

A church has been built over the spring dedicated to "Our Lady of the Fishes," and on this day a regular pilgrimage takes place from all parts of the town. Many sick are carried thither, and many miraculous cures are reported. The truth of the story is proved by the presence in a large marble lined tank in the church of the lineal descendants of the half cooked fish. Any one who does not believe has only to look in the water, and he will see them, brown on one side and white on the other, swimming about at their ease.

Howitzers are steel breechloading weapons weighing 2,600 pounds and having a length of 8 feet 10 inches.

THE JOYS OF FLYTIME.

Gluefoot Harry distributes his purchase about the room and waits for the wicked little fly to light.

When he awakes he is stuck on himself.

New York Evening World.

THE CUNNING MAMMA AND THE BACKWARD SUITOR.

Good morning, dear Pauline. How lucky to find you alone!

"I fail to see the reason why you secure such widespread advertisement," he exclaimed pettishly.

"Especially," retorted Bopeep, "when you are so vigorously blowing your own horn."

"You neglect your charges shamefully. I believe even now they are lost," he pursued.

"Oh, they'll all come home, like your press agents, bringing their tales behind them," returned Bopeep airily.

Hereupon the Little Boy looked rather sheepish for an instant. "Your long continued association with crooks is corrupting your morals and manners," he cried, recovering himself.

At this Bopeep blushed, but made no reply. Perhaps, after all, it was jealousy that made the Little Boy Blue.—New York Sun.

An Anecdote of Greeley.

A call was once made by a dozen noted artists of the Academy of Design, in 1870, on Horace Greeley. Mr. Clarence Cook, then the art critic of The Tribune, had been saying things about the academy exhibition which caused the venerable chiefs of that establishment to boll with indignation. One day a committee went down to The Tribune to complain. Mr. Greeley, having listened in silence to what these gentlemen had to say, looked up from his desk, a twinkle in his eye, and said, with his peculiar nasal falsetto: "Gentlemen, I judge from your remarks that Mr. Cook's articles are widely read. They will therefore continue to be printed in The Tribune. Good morning."

Insulted.

Lord Cardwell was in the habit of using the church prayers at family prayers. One day his valet came to him and said, "I must leave your lordship's service at once."

"Why, what have you to complain of?"

"Nothing personally, but your lordship will repeat every morning, 'We have done those things which we ought not to have done and have left undone those things which we ought to have done.' Now, I freely admit that I have often done things I ought not, but that I have left undone things that I ought to have done I utterly deny, and I will not stay here to hear it said."

How He Talked.

Rubinstein, after a concert tour in Spain, was asked: "Do you understand Spanish?"

"No," he said.

"Then you had to converse with the Spaniards in French, I suppose?"

"Not every Spaniard speaks French."

The Actor and His Salary.
"What salary are you getting, old boy?"

"You have a brutal and discourteous way of putting it. I will tell you the salary I am promised, but wild horses can't drag from me the amount I am getting."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Much.

"And I," she said in a burst of confidence, "have faults like you, George."

"In that case, Miss Gaggins," he broke in, with a startled look, "I think we had better call the engagement off."—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Curious Tree.

There is a curious combination tree in West Stockbridge, Mass. It is primarily a maple which measures a foot from the ground, 12 feet 3 inches in circumference. Fifteen feet from the ground there are one or two birch limbs growing, and higher up are currant and raspberry bushes which bear fruit each year. It is not stated whether the sugar made from its sap has a raspberry flavor, or the birch bark a currant color and taste, or the berries a spiky tang of birch. It is very old and bids fair to stand for many years longer.

His Manners All in a Bunch.

The laundress' little boy is being strenuously brought up "by hand."

"Why, mum," she said despairingly, "if I pounded that boy black and blue I couldn't learn him his manners. Here, Willie!" to the urchin, who was looking confusedly at some pennies given him by the mistress. "What do you say to the lady?"

Willie looked troubled. Then, "Yes, ma'am; no, ma'am; please, thank you, excuse me," he said breathlessly, remembering all his "manners" at once, the occasion evidently being grim.
